

Snam: Italian gas supplies guaranteed by storage

Flows could be resumed shortly

Snam informs that, following the accident at a stretch of the Austrian network managed by the operator Gas Connect, gas import flows from Russia have been temporarily interrupted. On the basis of the information currently available, supplies could resume today if the first indications on the absence of damage to transport infrastructure are confirmed. In the meanwhile, the security of the Italian system is guaranteed by the storage facilities made available by Snam. As expected in these situations, the Ministry of Economic Development has declared a state of emergency.